The Ministry of Technology and Communications of the Lao People's Democratic Republic, abbreviated as "MTC", is a government mechanism that serves as a strategic advisor to the government in macro-level management of technology, innovation, telecommunications, internet, postal services, and cybersecurity across the entire country.

Established in 1971, the Intersputnik International Organization of Space Communications brings together countries from Asia, Africa, the Middle East, Europe and Latin America. The most important activity of the Organization is to promote economic, scientific, technical and cultural relations between its members through communication and broadcasting satellites.

Modern technologies make it possible to show the beauty of crafts and creations of great national artisans and expand the possibilities of educational activities in any country of the world with the help of the Internet and television, while ensuring the continuity of generations. To offer communication and broadcasting services on all continents of the Earth, the Organization provides access to the satellite resource in the geostationary and non-geostationary orbits. The unique status of Intersputnik allows the development of commercial activities as part of international cooperation.

In its activities Intersputnik pays great attention to interaction and support of initiatives of young professionals from member countries of the Organization. Intersputnik promotes youth participation in leading industry events in different regions of the world, acquiring the skills and knowledge necessary in the process of digitalization of the global economy and meeting the challenges to achieve the Sustainable Development Goals (SDGs) adopted by the United Nations in 2015.

Since 2022, Intersputnik has been implementing the Youth Far Beyond Borders project in order to support the creative youth from member countries of the Organization: young artists, sculptors, designers who create works, on the one hand, related to space, and on the other hand, emphasizing the national flavour and ethnic aspects of what is depicted. This exhibition of Ms. Phoutsany Sengthavy and Mr. Anongkham Angkham works has been organized as part of the Youth Far Beyond Borders project.
